is managed and taught by the Jesuit Fathers of the Southern Province.

REV. WILLIAM D. O'LEARY, S.J., M.A., M.D., President of the College

Father O'Leary who is completing his first year as President at Spring Hill left a flourishing medical practice in New York several years ago to take the orders of priesthood and the Jesuit vows. Born and reared in Georgia, Father O'Leary returns to his native South in the role of an educator.

EXTENSION SCHOOL...

An accomodation for the people of Mobile who wish to pursue formal study, Spring Hill's extension classes held three nights weekly and on Saturday morning afford those desiring them, courses of study leading to the bachelor degrees.

While enrollment in the regular session is limited to male students, the extension courses, including the summer courses, are open to men and women alike, provided they have completed prerequisite study.

The extension courses offer school teachers the opportunity to finish work required to obtain class B, or C teaching certificates.

The Spring Hill extension school, administered by regular members of the college faculty, enables those engaged in various occupational tasks to continue their academic work without sacrificing employment.

The evening classes are held in downtown Mobile, while the Saturday courses are offered on the campus proper.

THE SODALITY...

Spring Hill's only all-school annual banquet celebrated its second anniversary this year during the pre-Christmas festivities sponsored by the Sodality. Approximately 200 guests were served in what promises to be a yearly tradition at Spring Hill. Receiving its vital force through the work of Rev. Louis Mulry, S.J., student counsellor, the Sodality has undertaken the most expansive program in its history.

October devotions to Mary, Queen of the Rosary, held each evening during the month at the grotto were promoted by active sodalists. Frequent drives for old clothing and cast-off goods for the poor were accomplished through the Sodality. Athletic guidance for Catholic Youth groups in Mobile were conducted throughout the year by Olaf Fink, Sodality secretary.

Driving Father Mulry on his weekly tour of the nearby mission churches and assisting at the services were counted among Sodalists "extramural" activities.

Daily May devotions to Mary and election of officers for the next scholastic term concluded the Sodality's current program.

SANCTUARY SOCIETY...

While less interested students enjoy the last few winks before the morning rise for Mass, designated members of the servers corps are attentively assisting priests at Mass.

Daily throughout the year, servers rise from ten minutes to an hour before common rising time in order to partake more closely in the sacrifice of the Mass, an integral part of Jesuit education for Catholic students.

With the server's position on the main altar at the students' Mass reserved for senior acolytes, other members of the society assist at Masses in the small altar rooms above the sacristy.

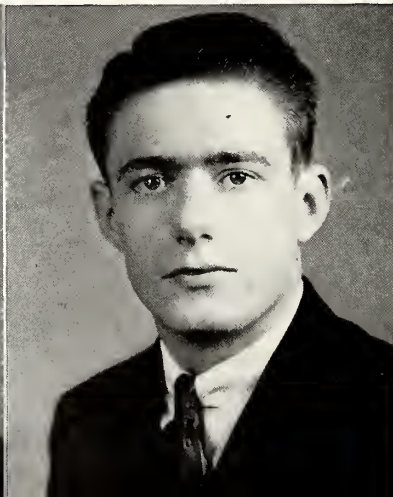

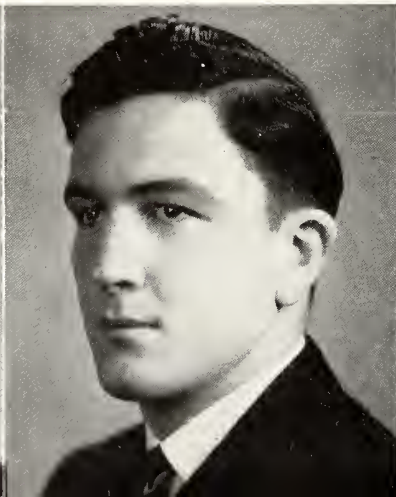

Without material reward other than an occasional "late sleep", the servers are encouraged to realize more fully the bountiful source of grace and worship that the Mass is.

The annual altar boys' picnic held late in May offers the group an opportunity to frolic, play, and relax in the same spirit with which they made small sacrifices during the year.

PORTIER DEBATING...

Nine in '35, sixteen in '36, thirty-two in '37, thirty-seven in '38, and fifty-two intercollegiate debates during the present year stands as the Portier debating academy's march of progress.

With quantity as an incentive, the Portier debaters have made forensic quality their ideal—and with more than measurable success.

Leading the role call of top-notch debaters during the past three years, John Bacon and James Moore realized a personal triumph when, in 1937, a debate they had delivered at the Louisiana State tournament was published shortly afterwards in the University Debaters Annual.

The succeeding year, with Mr. Albert S. Foley, S.J., directing Portier's activities, saw Spring Hill host to Great Britain's finest debaters in the Anglo-Welsh team with Moore and Bacon furnishing opposition.

The present '38-'39 season also saw the Bacon-Moore combination wrangle over the international issue against two more of Britain's best before a large Mobile audience.

The pace set by this year's debaters with fifty-two intercollegiate debates, three intercollegiate tournaments, a series of radio debates, and the international debate, will stand as a record to be equalled only with difficulty.

ALPHA SIGMA NU...

Spring Hill's two, point, fivers (2.5) or better, reasoned: united we stand, divided we stand alone, and so incorporated themselves with a national brain trust organization, the Alpha Sigma Nu honorary scholastic fraternity.

Open only to those juniors and seniors who have maintained a scholastic quality quotient of 2.5 (85) or better, the fraternity annually initiates, welcomes the new members, and dines.

This year new members heard Rev. William D. O'Leary, S.J., president of the College, congratulate them on their academic triumphs; listened to Rev. Andrew C. Smith, S.J., dean of studies, pronounce the formal induction; and relaxed at an entertaining dance party held in their honor.

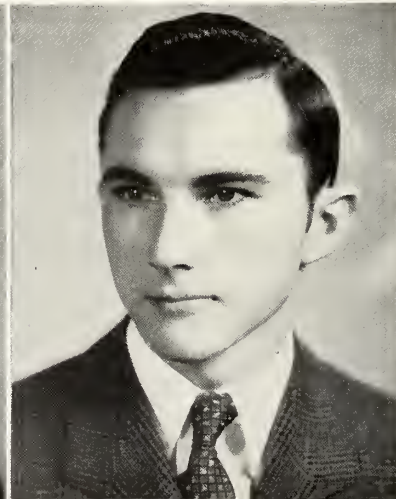

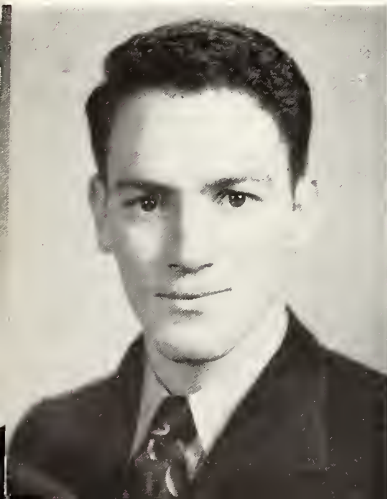

Besides his scholastic adeptness, the candidate's record of extra-curricular activities is also probed before he is accepted into the organization.

The present year's crop of pundits yielded a harvest of seven, including John Bacon, John Rambeau, Edward Leslie, Richard Zimmermann, Fleming Hatch, Edward Balthrop, and N. C. LaFleur.

CHICAGO CLUB...

Supplanting the earlier tradition of state clubs at Spring Hill the recently organized Chicago club saw its first full flush of achievement during the past year both at Spring Hill and in Chicago.

Vitalized by the influx of thirteen new members in the fall, the Chicago club extended invitations to over two hundred at its first social function held in the Windy City, during the Christmas holidays.

Later, when the University of Chicago tennis team faced the Spring Hill team on the local courts, the Chicagoans played hosts for an evening's entertainment.

Recently repaired, the century-old Sodality chapel behind the administration building, will stand as a lasting tribute to the mothers of the Chicago boys who sponsored a card party to secure the funds necessary for the repairs. Besides the money presented to the Sodality for the improvements the mothers also presented a complete set of altar vestments and linens to Rev. Louis Mulry, S. J., student counsellor, for use in the chapel. Rev. Frank Coyle of St. Barnabas parish in Chicago made the presentation to Father Mulry in January of the current term.

THE SPRINGHILLIAN...

Keeping tab on the news and events of the campus, the Springhillian in tabloid form chronicles athletic, social, and scholastic items of interest every two weeks.

Editorially a potent force in student activities, the Springhillian's policies are directed towards the progress of the school and students alike working to promote Spring Hill through the students.

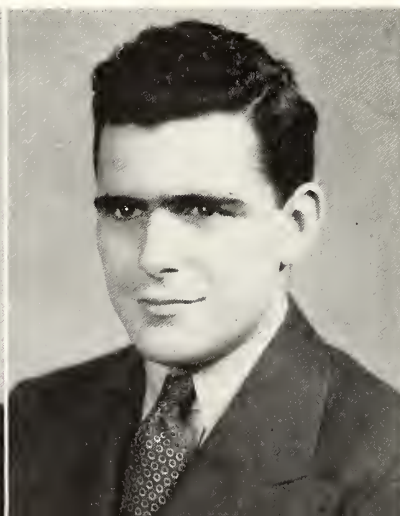

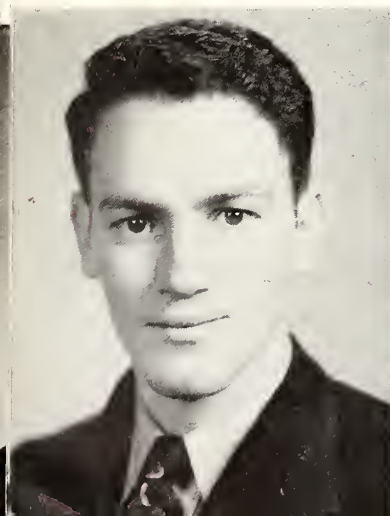

The past year has seen in The Springhillian an endeavor to mold student opinion and guide student action through its editorial columns and presentation of news articles. In late fall an editorial criticizing the Student Council for its inactivity, was countered by a successful drive on the part of the Student Council to raise funds for a float in the Mardi Gras parade.

Activities of the various campus organizations were supported by the paper to encourage student activity. In the sports department accurate records of both intercollegiate and intramural contests were contained in each issue. The Spring Hill Quarterly, the Philomelic Academy, The Azalean, and other organizations had their wares effectually displayed to encourage student interest and support.

STUDENT COUNCIL...

Representing the leading organizations and student groups of the campus, the student Council has endeavored since its founding in 1928 to serve the needs of the students and to work towards a better Spring Hill.

Council membership which changes annually is determined by class organization elections held toward the conclusion of the scholastic term. The presidents of the four classes and the presidents of the recognized honorary, academic, and social organizations of the campus comprise the Council.

The variously measured success of the Council during the present term under President Joseph Collins resulted only in entering a fourth place float in the Mardi Gras floral parades. Several proposals were given a measure of consideration at different Council gatherings while discussion on the renovation of the College Inn, a Council project, was tabled for a future generation.

The establishment of a standing fund to serve minor student needs was made possible through prize money won by the Council float.

BETA BETA BETA...

A sideline for students of biology, especially for those who intend to follow the medical profession, the Spring Hill chapter of Beta Beta Beta, national honorary biological fraternity, offers interested students a background in the accomplishments both old and new in the field of biological and medical research.

Weekly meetings feature slide displays, moving pictures and lectures by prominent local doctors and guest speakers. The Mendelian, a quarterly publication of the Spring Hill chapter, offers students an opportunity to publish their own research data in the field of biological science.

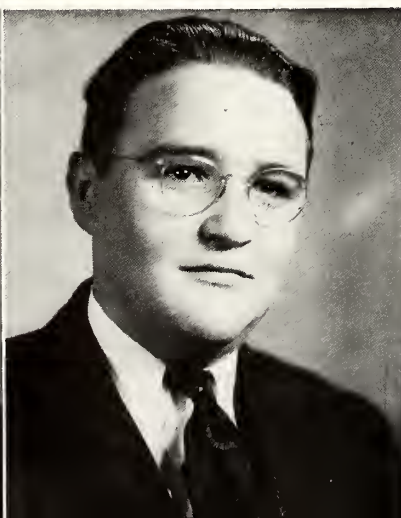

Field days and sea trips arranged by the fraternity afford students with further opportunity for work in biology. Four and five times annually general fishing trips on the Gulf of Mexico are scheduled with accommodations for a limited number of students not members of the fraternity.

Rev. Patrick H. Yancey, S.J., head of the department of biology and president of the Alabama Academy of Science, also acts as director of the fraternity.

PHILOMELIC ACADEMY...

Spring Hill's youngest, yet most spontaneous organization in celebrating its first anniversary next fall will stand as the embodiment of cherished hopes of a small but enthusiastic group of students. Led by the ambitious Sam Betty and supported in its embryonic stages by his classical music library, the Philomelic academy grew from a tottering infant groping insecurely towards an ideal which the latter months of the year have seen realized until its present status has assured it of continued success.

High spot of the year was a three-day visit of Frank Stratton and his clavichord with an illustrated course in the history of music. Before leaving the campus, Mr. Stratton was enrolled as an honorary member of the academy along with Lawrence Tibbett who was enrolled earlier in the year.

Weekly meetings conducted by Mr. Clement J. McNaspy, S.J., included an integrated study of musical forms and masterpieces via piano and electrical transcription.

Achievement of the group included establishment of a fund to procure musical recordings, purchase of a grand piano, reservation of a meeting room in library, and the Stratton visit.

Hopes of the group include a grant from the Carnegie fund to add to musical library.

THE QUARTERLY...

"As I gaze dimly at the dark days ahead
And feel the breath of Time upon my heels."

—Stockman O'Rourke.

Thus, with high hopes, slender means, great ambitions, and a hazy future began the staff of the first strictly literary publication undertaken by the students of Spring Hill college since 1910.

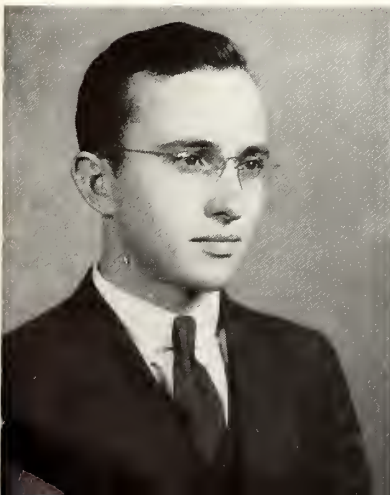

The Spring Hill Quarterly as it is today under Stockman O'Rourke, comes from an ancient and honorable line. Its founding can be traced back to the year 1861 from which time until 1910 it was published strictly as a literary review. In the year 1910, however, it was first seen fit to publish it as a newspaper magazine which it remained until 1930 when the literary supplement was dropped completely. In its present form as the Spring Hill Quarterly, it again appears as a purely Literary Review.

GLEE CLUB . . .

Comprising over twenty-six members, Spring Hill's choral groups, the Glee Club and choir, completed a season which included public recitals, radio programs, and selections for special occasions.

During the pre-Christmas season, Glee Club members toured the local area singing Christmas carols at the Old People's home, Providence hospital, Visitation academy, and the Episcopal home for girls at Spring Hill.

At other times the organization presented recitals at the Convent of Mercy and Bishop Toolen high school. A special program of songs was rendered over radio station WALA during the first part of the second semester. Commencement vocal selections were also offered by the Glee club.

The students' choir composed mostly of Glee Club members sang at church services on various occasions throughout the year.

To conclude their year's work the choral society members celebrated at a special picnic held in Pensacola during the middle of May.

YENNI DRAMATIC . . .

A late Fall presentation of George M. Cohan's hit "Broadway Jones" and an early Spring radio dramatization of F. Taylor Peck's local prize-winner, "Over All the World", comprised the Yenni players' active work during the present year under the direction of Rev. Charles Quirk, S.J., and Rev. Warren Barker, S.J.

With James Siemens, a freshman from Chicago playing the title role in Cohan's play and George Lillich, a senior from Rochester, New York, taking the lead in the radio drama, over 14 of the Yenni society's members were able to enjoy active dramatic service.

Six Yenni actors were inducted as regular members of the Spring Hill chapter of Alph Psi Omega, national dramatic fraternity, during the latter part of the year.

Those initiated by officers Sam Betty, George Lillich, and Frank Tally included Alfred Lambeau, Louis Maloof, Stockman O'Rourke, James Fagan, James Siemens, and Daniel Partridge.

Lorraine Fowler, Mrs. Frances Durham, Elizabeth Courtney, and Mary Thompson, students in Spring Hill's extension school also did active dramatic work in the Yenni society's presentations.

PHI OMEGA . . .

When "Pres" Roell called the first meeting of the Phi Omega fraternity this year, it was facing a gloomy future because of graduation from the previous year and withdrawal of students during the summer, leaving the fraternity with only eleven active members. However, eleven fellows who were more interested in the fraternal spirit could not be found; so, living up to the Phi Omega motto: "Let us not despair," the membership was easily brought back to capacity by hard work and pleasant association with the underclassmen.

It was back in March, 1928, that a group of five students, who were dissatisfied with the then present condition of social life on the campus decided to get permission from the faculty to form a fraternity which would come up to their standards. Phi Omega fraternity was the result.

True to the desire of its original founders, Phi Omega has taught its pledges that they are to cooperate with the faculty, promote school spirit, and that they are not to look upon themselves as the social superiors of their fellow Hillians.

PHI OMEGA . . .

This year found the Omegans coming out with more social affairs than any previous year within the memory of any of the present members. Probably the greatest accomplishment of the year was the successful effort of the members to obtain a furnished fraternity room at the east end of Mobile Hall, accessible for boarders and town students. One of Spring Hill's outstanding social events was the winter dance given by Phi Omega on February 10. Included on the program of social activities were three pledge parties, a skating party, a weenie roast, a banquet, and numerous informal parties.

The school year of 1938-39 saw Phi Omega worthily claim to be one of the campus' most active organizations.

OMICRON SIGMA . . .

Preparing for a banner year on its twenty-fifth anniversary during the 1939-1940 term, the Omicron Sigma social fraternity added to its already imposing list of accomplishments during the present year. In conformity with the same policy by which the organization honored the memory of its founder, Matt Rice, in the annual presentation of a trophy to the individual who rendered the greatest service to the school, Omicron Sigma this year established an annual award to the most valuable player on the Freshman football team.

The winners of both trophies are determined by election; in the case of the Matt Rice cup the vote of the entire student body is the determining factor while in the case of the Freshman team it is the vote of the team members.

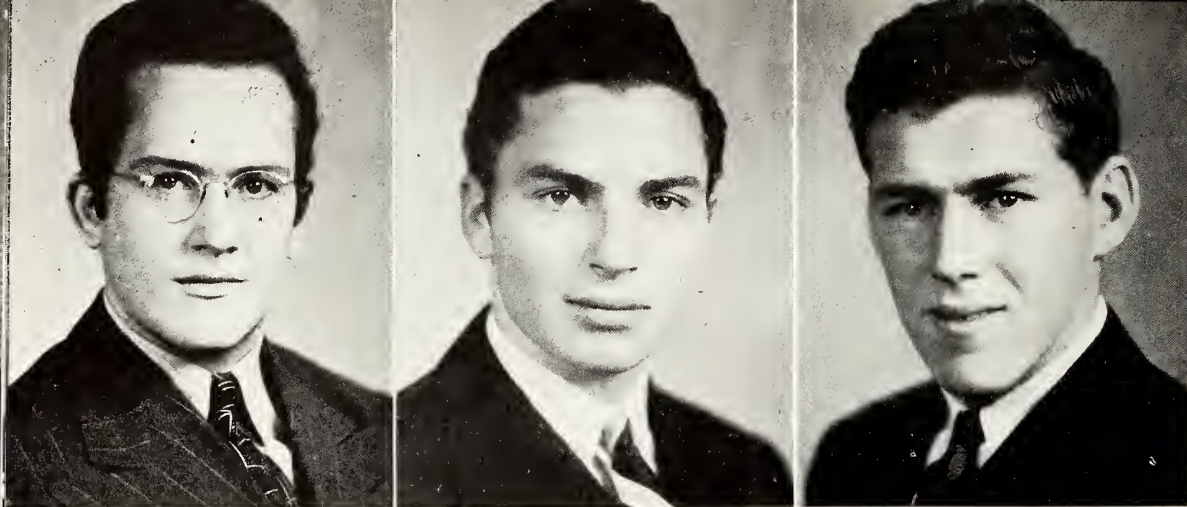

Socially, too, the Omicrons have maintained a high standard of entertainment with a varied program of dances and less formal functions.

In the ranks of the fraternity are numbered the Senior class president, the presidents of six active campus organizations, and various officers of academic and honorary groups.

To commemorate the day of its founding in 1915 and to further its activity in behalf of Spring Hill, the fraternity is at present making plans to celebrate its silver jubilee.

GAS HOUSE GANG...

On the night of October 13, 1938, twenty-eight residents of the East end of Mobile Hall, familiarly known as the Gas House Gang met in a body and drew up a constitution, becoming a recognized Spring Hill organization. The distinction the organization enjoys is the fact that there are no dues and no treasury and having a mayor elected every six weeks along with three commissioners.

The honor of being the first mayor of the organized Gas House Gang went to the Pineville Hero, Field Gremillion. After ratification of the constitution, plans were made to foster the Gang's entrance into the social whirl. The initial party was a barn dance held in the College Inn to obtain money for Father Fox's missions. The music for the party was rendered by a true barn dance orchestra, "The Alabama Serenaders". This was the first of many social events that the Gas House Gang embarked upon, but it is this dance that will long be remembered by its organization for it was the party at which the organization made its debut as one of the greatest social groups on the campus.

Still another event which marked the athletic supremacy of the Gas House Gang was its football victory over their arch rivals the Gold Coasters for the possession of the "Little Brown Jug" by a score of 7 to 0. Their triumph in the realm of sport was their recent soft-ball victory over the Gold Coast by the score of 12 to 6 giving them permanent possession of the trophy.

On the evening of May 20, when the college bus drew up to sink the Ship Ahoy, site of the Gas Housers last social function, finis was written to a successful year of social and athletic endeavor.

POETRY SOCIETY...

Meeting on every other Sunday night during the school term, Spring Hill's Poetry society, led by poet-priest-teacher Rev. Charles Quirk, S.J., determines a critical appreciation of classical as well as modern poetic selections.

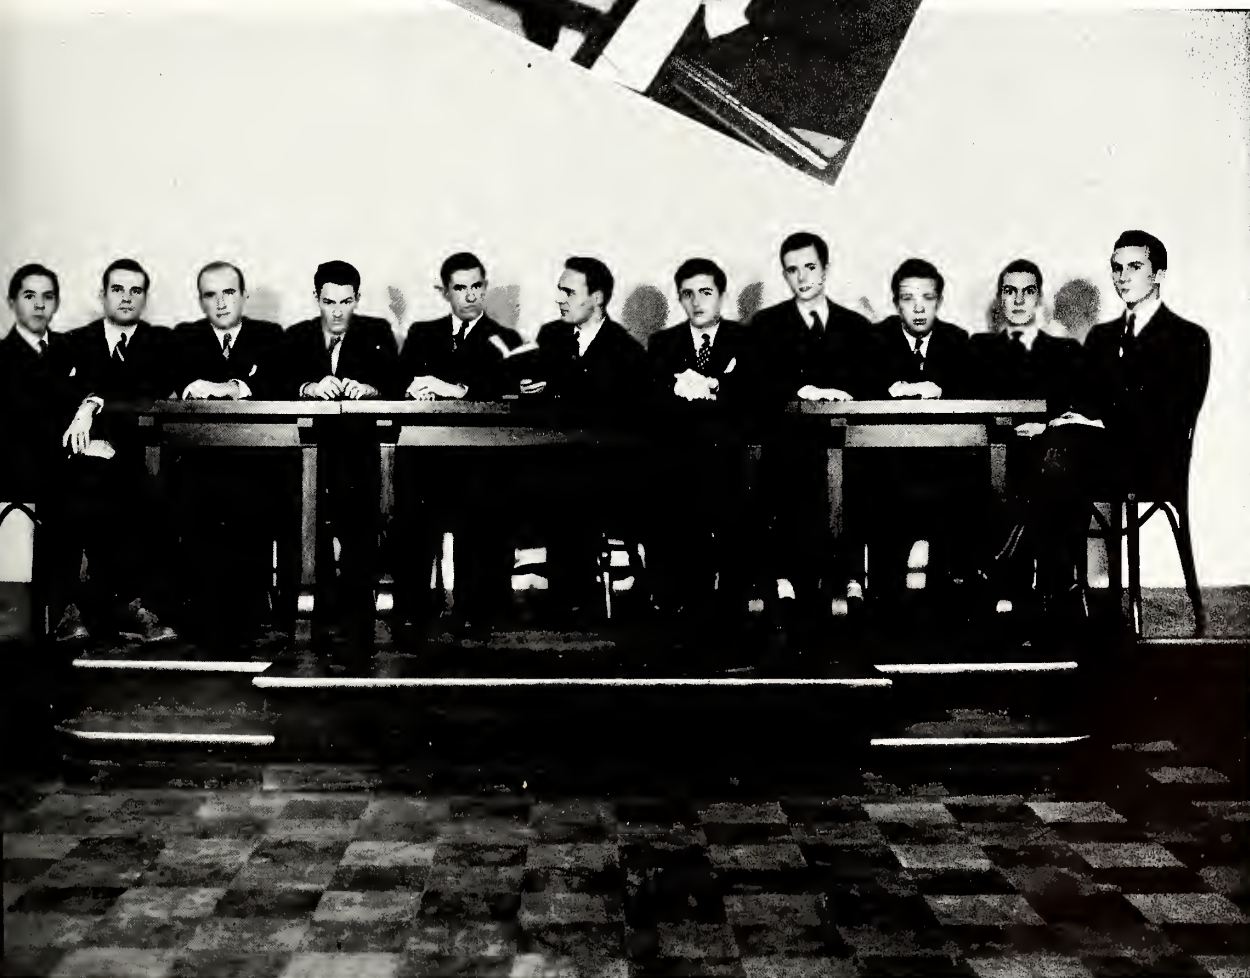

The presentation of a paper prepared by the various members of the group on particular fields, works, or authors in poetry comprises the Poetry society meeting.

The Society's annual formal banquet held in the latter part of April brings greetings from living honorary members of the organization. Among those to whom the Society extended honorary membership were G. K. Chesterton, Edna St. Vincent Millay, Rev. Charles O'Donnell, C.S.C., and Paul Claudel.

At the annual banquet, members of the society read their favorite bits of verse, hear words of greeting from honorary members and elect officers.

FOOTBALL...

Hampered by early season injuries at key positions and lacking in capable reserve strength, the Spring Hill Badgers ended the 1938 football campaign with a record of three victories in nine games.

Injuries in practice scrimmages relegated alternate Captain Frank Tally and Keith Ferrell, regular linemen, to the sidelines for good and kept Mahany Ray, another line stalwart, out of action for most of the season. Their loss left a big gap in the forward wall which reserves were unable to plug.

Seven senior lettermen, Captain Olaf Fink, alternate Captain Frank Tally, Keith Ferrell, Ralph Harold, Martin Simmons, Herb Lambert, and Charles Isaac will be lost to the 1939 squad.

LOYOLA

The opener at New Orleans Friday night, September 23, went to Loyola, 13 to 0, as the Wolves scored first on a 23-yard pass play in the second period and again in the third period on a 20-yard run and a subsequent lateral for the remaining seventeen yards. The Badgers' lone threat came in the first quarter after a Loyola fumble on the 15-yard line. Fink's fourth down pass from the 7-yard line intended for Strickland fell incomplete in the end zone. The long and well placed punts of Fink featured.

MIAMI

Eddie Dunn and his University of Miami mates overwhelmed the Hillians, 46 to 0, the following Friday night at Miami. The Hurricanes raised havoc in the Badger ranks to the extent of seven touchdowns, two extra points, and a safety.

ALABAMA STATE TEACHERS

With Coach Smith using a revamped lineup the Badgers ran over the Alabama State Teachers, 60 to 0, in their first home appearance Friday night, October 8. Fink led the assault with three touchdowns; Nettles scored twice, and Brislan, Isaac, Newell, and Simmons once each.

SOUTHWESTERN LOUISIANA

The third loss of the season was administered by the Southwestern Louisiana Bulldogs the following Friday night at Dorn Stadium. Brislan led the opening drive that ran up four consecutive first downs before the Bulldogs blocked Newell's punt and returned it forty-five yards for the first score. After two more Southwestern touchdowns in the second quarter, Brislan snagged Newell's pass in the end zone to climax a 75-yard Hill drive. A scoring spree in the fourth period netted the Bulldogs thirteen points to make the final count: Southwestern 33; Spring Hill 7.

UNION

Playing before a homecoming crowd Friday night, October 21, the Badgers downed the Union Bulldogs, 14 to 7, for their second win. Fink was the offensive standout of the game. He set up the first score with his hard running and plunged over for the second before the end of the first quarter. Union tallied in the third quarter and kept the Badgers at bay during the remainder of the game.

HOWARD

Birmingham was the scene of the fourth Hill loss as the Purple and White bowed to Howard, 26 to 0, the next week end. The winners broke loose for single scores in the first and third periods and two in the fourth. A late Spring Hill scoring drive ended on the Howard 1-yard line.

MISSISSIPPI COLLEGE

A strong aerial attack that accounted for four of its five touchdowns gave Mississippi College a 35 to 0 win over the Hillians at Clinton, November 5. Zimmermann's blocking and tackling stood out in the loss.

BIRMINGHAM - SOUTHERN

A sixty-yard touchdown run late in the third period spelled defeat for the Badgers Friday night, November 11 at Dorn Stadium. The score was: Birmingham Southern 7; Spring Hill 0; but victory came to the Panthers only after Newell's fine punting and a timely defense led by Ray, Oliver, and Gallagher held off the Birmingham attack. Brislan gathered in Newell's pass to cross the goal just before the half, but the play was called back, thus ending the only serious Badger threat.

MILLSAPS

With Olaf Fink, Badger captain, sprinting seventy-three yards for a touchdown on the second play after the kickoff, Spring Hill overwhelmed the Millsaps Majors, 26 to 0, in the Thanksgiving day finale at Dorn Stadium. Crabtree, Brislan, and Wilson accounted for the remaining touchdowns. Coach Smith used his entire squad in the encounter with Hatch, Tatum, Barnes, and Ray looking best in the line.

FRESHMAN FOOTBALL...

From the ranks of the 1938 Baby Badger Frosh football squad should come ample replacements for the seven varsity lettermen lost by graduation.

Charley Ahern, who was voted the Omicron Sigma fraternity cup as the outstanding player on the Frosh squad, is already being counted on to fill the backfield's triple threat vacancy caused by the loss of Captain Olaf Fink. Jim Manderson, Ed Nolin, Walt Millar, Joe Perez, Aug Marinak, Ray Heniff, Gerard and Don Frederick, Dan Heffern, Robert Hosemann, and James Evans, are also considered promising material for next fall's varsity.

The Badgerlings, who spent most of their time in offensive scrimmage against the varsity, dropped all five games of their abbreviated schedule. Losses were to Pensacola Naval Air Station, 25 to 2; Poplarville (Miss.) Junior College, 19 to 6; Ellisville (Miss.) Junior College, 19 to 0; Perkinston (Miss.) Junior College, 14 to 0; and Loyola Freshmen, 2 to 0.

As a team, the 1938 Frosh lacked coordination, both on offense and defense, but Freshman Coach Ben Smith was content to stress the fundamentals of blocking, tackling, running, kicking, and passing.

BASKETBALL...

An inexperienced group of Purple and White basketeters, facing Spring Hill's first extensive intercollegiate hardwood schedule in several years, failed to win a single victory in an eighteen-game season. The squad of five juniors and five sophomores lost sixteen consecutive games during the regular season and a final two at the Dixie Conference tourney in Jackson, Mississippi.

THE RESULTS

Spring Hill opened with a double loss to a supposedly strong Auburn team, 30 to 22 and 44 to 23. Then followed defeats at the hands of the Birmingham Y. M. H. A. quintet, 42 to 25, and the Alabama State Teachers, 63 to 38.

Traveling to New Orleans, the Badgers fell before Loyola, 61 to 28, in the first game of the series, but came back strong the next night to hold the Wolfpack to a close 62 to 60 overtime win.

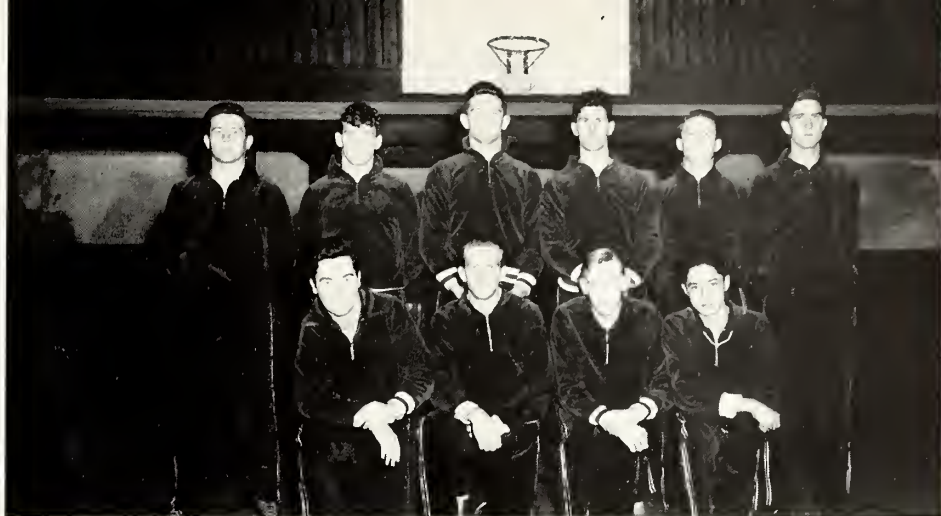

Southeastern Louisiana tacked on defeat number six, 43 to 33, and Millsaps added two more, 45 to 27, and 34 to 21.

The Mississippi College Choctaws, Dixie Conference champions, employed a fast breaking offense to down Spring Hill, 54 to 46 and 59 to 37, before the Pensacola Naval Air Station quintet scored a 48 to 32 victory. The Fairhope Cardinals, an independent team, then eked out a 22 to 20 decision.

The Badger five journeyed to Lafayette, La., late in February to absorb a 45 to 21 defeat at the hands of Southwestern Louisiana Institute.

A basket in the final thirty seconds gave Pensacola Naval Air Station a 22 to 21 victory to run the Hill losing streak to fifteen.

Millsaps closed out the regular Spring Hill schedule by winning, 40 to 28, on the Badger floor in the only home game of the season.

DIXIE CONFERENCE TOURNAMENT

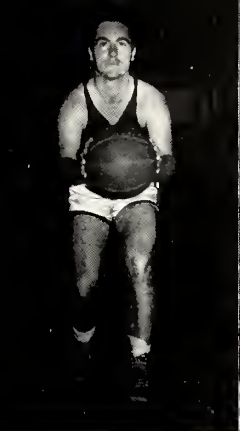

In the double-eliminating Dixie Conference meet a scrappy team of Badgers forced the highly favored Millsaps Majors to an overtime session before succumbing, 48 to 45, but Southwestern of Memphis completed the elimination the next day, 50 to 33.

INDIVIDUAL SCORING

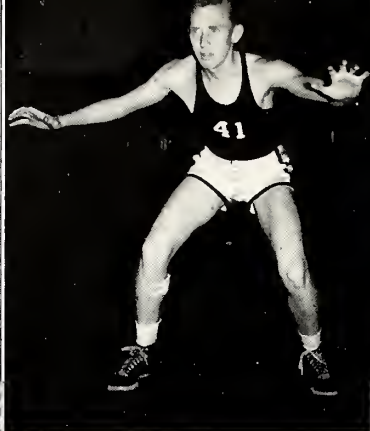

Tony Walsh, sophomore forward, paced the team in scoring with 135 points. Frank Hatcher placed second with 87 points, closely followed by Redmond Reilly, Mahany Ray, Billy Brislan, Phil Carey, and Carlos Amiguet.

1940 CAPTAIN

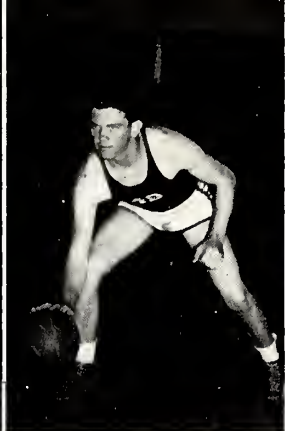

Mahany Ray, junior guard, was elected captain for the 1940 season at a meeting of the team members. Frank Hatcher, junior center, was chosen alternate captain. Coach Earle Smith announced that major letters would be awarded all ten members of the squad.

FRESHMAN BASKETBALL

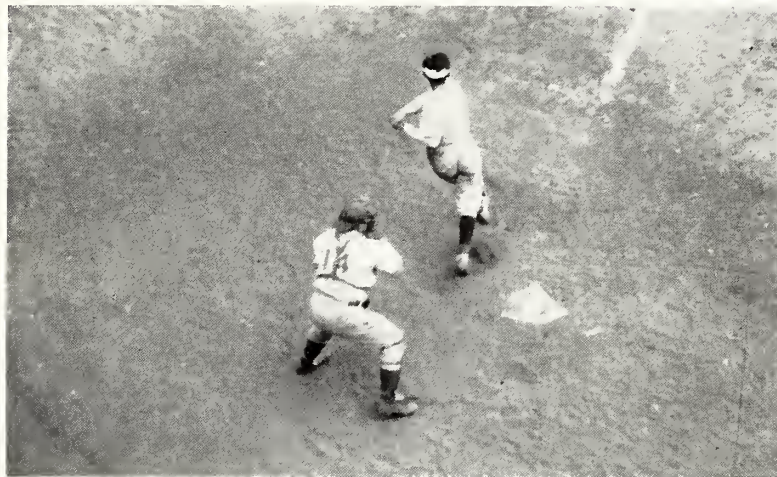

The first year quintet, victorious in fourteen of twenty-five encounters with independent and junior college teams, climaxed a successful year by winning third place honors in the Mobile Y. M. C. A. Gold Medal tournament last March.

A clever passing, fast breaking outfit, the Frosh boasted in Ed Hudon, Howard Whitehurst, Bill Quinlan, and Townsend Drury, four players ready to step up to varsity competition.

Whitehurst and Hudon led the team in point making, while Quinlan was the squad's outstanding floor man.

BASEBALL SQUAD...

BASEBALL . . .

With but two late games with Troy Teachers College remaining on the schedule, the Spring Hill baseball team had a record of fourteen victories in twenty-four games for the 1939 season, a season that marked the revival of baseball as an intercollegiate sport at Spring Hill after a lapse of eight years.

Against Dixie Conference opposition the Badgers won seven and lost one, sweeping a four game series with Mississippi College and taking three out of four from Millsaps. Games originally scheduled with Howard and Birmingham-Southern, two conference members, were cancelled.

Keith Ferrell, southpaw pitching star, who won six victories, Jack Higgins, relief hurler, and Phil Peters, who saw considerable service in the outfield, are the team's only losses by graduation.

SPRING HILL 12; MARION INSTITUTE 2

A trio of Badger pitchers, Ferrell, Wilcox, and Sparkman, limited the cadets to four hits as Charley Ahern led an eleven-hit attack in the opening game.

SPRING HILL 17; MARION INSTITUTE 4

Aided by five Marion errors and Dan Heffern's circuit clout with the bases loaded in the sixth inning, the Badgers coasted to victory behind Hoffman, Menton, and Nichols.

SPRING HILL 15; MISSISSIPPI COLLEGE 1

Woody Wilson connected for three doubles and a triple while Ferrell, Nichols, and Curtis gave the Chocs only four hits.

SPRING HILL 13; MISSISSIPPI COLLEGE 4

Ahern and Wilson paced the hitters as Wilcox, Sparkman, and Menton pitched the fourth Badger win.

ALABAMA 5; SPRING HILL 2

Eight errors cost Ferrell a four hit game at Tuscaloosa as 'Bama administered the first Hill loss.

ALABAMA 4; SPRING HILL 2

Nichols limited Alabama to five safeties but again errors proved costly. The Badgers collected only three hits.

ILLINOIS WESLEYAN 7; SPRING HILL 6

A two run rally in the ninth inning gave the invaders a victory over the Hillians and handed Ferrell his second loss.

ILLINOIS WESLEYAN 8; SPRING HILL 1

Poor fielding, weak hitting, and mediocre pitching by Hoffman accounted for the fourth straight Spring Hill defeat.

MOBILE SHIPPERS 5; SPRING HILL 2

Though Bill Menton held the Class B Southeastern League entry to eight scattered blows, three errors in the seventh inning gave the Shippers four unearned runs.

NAVAL AIR STATION 14; SPRING HILL 2

Scoring eight runs in the first three innings off Wilcox and Sparkman, the Aviators ran the Hill losing streak to six straight.

SPRING HILL 7; MILLSAPS 2

Keith Ferrell pitched the Badgers back into the win column and Joe Crabtree connected for three timely hits in the victory at Jackson.

MILLSAPS 12; SPRING HILL 5

Millsaps hit Sparkman, Nichols, Hoffman, and Wilcox for sixteen blows to pile up a seven run advantage.

SPRING HILL 5; MISSISSIPPI COLLEGE 0

Holding the Chocs to two safe hits at Clinton, Tom Sparkman pitched the first Hill shutout of the season.

Ahern's home run and seventeen other assorted hits rolled off the Badger bats to win a slugfest.

LOUISIANA TECH 12; SPRING HILL 1

After bunching their hits in the early innings, the Techmen coasted to victory in the first game at Ruston.

LOUISIANA TECH 17; SPRING HILL 1

Another exhibition of batting power swamped the Hillians who made only five hits.

SPRING HILL 5; NAVAL AIR STATION 1

Returning home, Hoffman pitched and Ahern batted the Badgers on to victory.

SPRING HILL 5; MILLSAPS 2

Ferrell drove out a home run and pitched six hit ball in defeating the Majors for the second time.

SPRING HILL 8; MILLSAPS 3

Frank Hatcher drove in three runs with timely hits as Ferrell came back to down the Majors a third time.

SPRING HILL 17; TROY TEACHERS 8

The Teachers fell before the Badger sluggers, especially Pete Maloney, who contributed a home run, a double, and two singles.

SPRING HILL 7; TROY TEACHERS 6

A two run ninth inning rally helped the Badgers win at Troy. Hatcher led the attack with three hits.

SPRING HILL 4; MARION INSTITUTE 2

Both teams made ten hits but Spring Hill bunched theirs in the third inning for all their runs. Manderson, Wilson, and Crabtree had two safeties each.

SPRING HILL 13; MARION 6

A twenty-one hit attack, including five by Pat Gallagher, made things easy for Ed Nichols.

NAVAL AIR STATION 4; SPRING HILL 2

Three errors coupled with four hits gave the Navy all their runs in the sixth frame. Joe Crabtree connected for a home run in the Badger sixth.

TENNIS...

"Their record speaks for itself" were the words of Coach J. C. Sanford describing the undefeated Badger tennis team that met and defeated the finest tennis aggregations available during the past year.

Among the nineteen Badger victims were the University of Alabama, Mississippi U., Mississippi State, Auburn, and the City of Memphis All-Stars.

Highlight of the undefeated season was the exhibition match sponsored by the Mobile Chamber of Commerce in which four members of the Spring Hill squad teamed with two Mobile amateurs to engage the University of Chicago tennis team, 1938 Big Ten champions, on the college courts. Louis Faquin, playing the No. 1 position, defeated Chester Murphy of Chicago, 6-3, 6-2, in the feature match. Sandy Lund and the No. 1 doubles team of Faquin and Leonard Floyd also triumphed to give the Badgers a 3 to 2 margin in the collegiate matches.

Invading Memphis, Tenn., during the Easter holidays, the Badgers defeated the City of Memphis All-Stars as Faquin won over Ramsay Potts, former University of North Carolina captain, 6-4, 6-2, and Floyd bested Dan Canale, No. 1 man of the Notre Dame team, 2-6, 6-4, 6-3.

TENNIS...

Faquin lost but one individual match during the season at the No. 1 position, while Sandy Lund, playing the No. 3 spot, was undefeated in nineteen matches. Faquin's lone loss was an 8-6, 6-1 defeat at the hands of Elston Wyatt, former junior Davis cup star, of the Pensacola city team. Lou later gained revenge by triumphing over Wyatt, 7-9, 6-4, 6-1, in a return match.

None of the five members of the team will be lost by graduation. Faquin, Floyd, and Lund are freshmen; Walsh and Byrd, sophomores.

The following tournament awards were presented: team trophy to Spring Hill; individual championship to Waring, Southwestern; individual championship runner-up trophy to Caton, Spring Hill; medalist trophy for qualifying round to Dinkler, Loyola; first flight trophy to Ambrose, Spring Hill; first flight runner-up trophy to Middleton, Loyola.

Prior to the meet the Badger golfers won six of eight inter-collegiate matches. Illinois College, Mississippi College, Millsaps, Louisiana Normal, and Southwestern of Memphis, dropped decisions to the Hill linksmen.

The University of Mississippi golfers bested Spring Hill $11\frac{1}{2}$ to $6\frac{1}{2}$, and Southwestern nosed out the Badgers, $9\frac{1}{2}$ to $8\frac{1}{2}$, for the only losses.

INTRAMURALS...

Realizing that it is the duty of a school in offering a well rounded educational program to provide for the healthful relaxation of all its students and that sports of some sort are an essential part of school life, Mr. Arthur A. INTRAMURAL AWARDS . . .

As an added incentive for participation in the various intramural sports, an award of sweater and letter will be presented the outstanding intramural participant who fulfills certain requirements during 1938-39, Mr. Arthur A. Colkin, S.J., director of intramurals, announced at the beginning of the school year.

The winner of the award must not be the holder of a varsity letter; he must have (in the case of a team entering the sport) taken part in at least three-quarters of his team's games; he must have remained in the tournament until he has won or been eliminated; and he must have amassed the greatest number of points in all the events.

Points are given on the basis: 1 point for registration in the sport and continuing in the tournament until being eliminated, or playing three quarters of his team's games; 5 points for the winner of an intramural sport or member of the winning team; 3 points for the runner-up or a member of a second place team; 1 point for third place in a sport or the member of a third place team. (These points are in addition to registration and playing in the sport.)

Joseph Collins, senior; James Condren, sophomore; and John Hastings, freshman, were in the lead for the award prior to late competition.
